OLD SOUTH COMES INTO ITS OWN.

In John W. Davis the Democratic party of the Old South comes back in to its own. He is not only an aristocrat, but he looks and lives the part.

The profile is a reminder of some fine degenerate of the "fifties." The hands are beautifully molded. The feet are long and slender, as one whose ancestors have been of the professional or leisure classes. His voice has the telling of one accustomed to the society of Counts of Europe. To these external may be added an ease of manner found only among those born to beautiful homes and accustomed to the comforts given by many well-trained servants.

In England, where he represented Mr. Wilson as Ambassador, he was and is regarded as one of their "own sort" in the sense of being fully trained and at home in all that goes to make up the British ideal of a "scholar and a gentleman." Mr. Davis, while ambassador, made many friends among royalty and, according to cable dispatches, his nomination is most pleasing to England.

Mr. Davis has a beautiful country home in Locust Valley, near Glen Cove, Long Island, New York, where he has lived for a number of years. It is one of the most imposing homes in New York state and is situated in the heart of a region of estates of very wealthy men.

The house is provided with all the comforts that money can buy and is completely equipped in every sense even to most extensive quarters for the many servants.

OH DEAR
OH DEAR

The fat boys wanted John W. Davis.
The fat boys got what they want.
That is why they are fat. That is why Davis is the candidate. But it was not easy. It was necessary to rend the Democratic party from end to end and to tear its traditions to tatters. Invisible government, working thru the city bosses and professional politicians had a harder time than Mark Hanna had when he definitely turned the Republican party over to Wall Street.

This fight from the beginning nearly four years ago, has been between a progressive Democratic party of soi and by the common people and a conservative Democratic party of and by campaign contributors. In other words, Wall Street, the railroads, the trusts, the oil folks, the combinations and the stock market.

Much of the battle was fought beneath the surface of current events.
It was McAdoo against Wall Street.
His was a single army and numbered not quite half the delegates in the convention.

Wall Street had an army of allies, not always easy to handle but at least united against McAdoo.

The convention battle was in four major actions:

First, the friends of Woodrow Wilson were deftly split over the League of Nations plank. Life-long political enmities became enemies when the return of Wilson was fulsomely praised and his policies were contemptuously dragged in the dust.

Next, a religious war was precipitated and again the thousand delegates were divided into two camps filled with bitter hatred.

Third, booze was dragged in and another split was made and irreconcilable enemies were fired.

Then the convention was ready to become as clay in the hands of the turning potter. But it had to be softened with the sweat and tears of 102 ballots.

Each of the most powerful elements in the party had to be taken in hand separately and publicly whipped.

And so they were. The McAdoo outfit and the units of the allied anti-McAdoo army; the Wilson men; the Solid South; the senatorial bloc; the Kluxers and anti-Kluxers; the farmers and the labor crowd; even Tammany and the Brennans and the Taggarts.

Then John W. Davis was put over, as had been intended all along—John W. Davis, who proved his courage and his fitness for the particular job months ago when he said that if he couldn't be both Morgan's lawyer and the Democratic candidate, he would choose as between the two, to be Morgan's lawyer.

But he didn't have to choose after all. He can be, and is both—Knoxville News.

We are writing our Michigan friend, Henry Ford today, congratulating him on having finished his ten millionth Ford and we suppose the worthy old gentleman heaved a mighty sigh of relief when he put on the last tire on his car, drove it out, and closed up his shop for the night.

Henry Morgenthau, who after sadly shaking his head over the corrupt relations of the Republican party with big business, plunges in delightedly and says that while the candidate of progressive democrats, Mr. John W.
Davis, has had some connection with business, it was always business of a high, honorable, respectable and responsible character.

Tomorrow we will write our friend Henry Ford, congratulating him on that little party that he, Jimmie Cox, and ourselves are to have at the Hotel Cumberland within the next few days and incidentally remind him that the next thing for progressive democrats to do is to get all the old line stand-pat democrats to vote for our choice, Candidate John W. Davis.

Our old neighbor Senator James Cousens of Michigan has come out flat-footed and says he won't subscribe to the republican platform and that he is taking the candidacy of Mr. Cooperidge with a grain of reservation and after all we can't blame him very much as that dry plank in the platform is a mighty hard one for him to subscribe to after his unimpeachable record as mayor and senator.

Our office expert, after receiving numerous and sundry advices from all over the known world, and having duly complied and computed the same, reports that it will take 61,925,410 gallons of digestive compound to make rendez and molt and change into perfume for assimilation into the body as a food, the new wife's cakes that have been mixed, compounded, baked and otherwise cooked, by June bridges from July 1st to the present day.

After careful consideration for several days, and after going over our wardrobe of paper clothes, we are writing to Mr. LaFollette that we hope that he will excuse us contributing one dollar or five, to the strong boy of his party, and that we consider that things have been mixed up quite enough in congress by Mr. LaFollette, and others, without our contributing to mix it up worse, and make us wear our paper suit another year.

While John Martin, a prominent honey-viant of Corbin, was transferring a portion of whiskey, according to our respected contemporary, the Corbin Times-Tribune at the L. & N. passenger depot in our sister city, the other day, he was unaware of the near approach of Bill Patterson, one of the minions of Ex Congressman Volstead, who was giving John an appraising glance and noting the transfer of addict and strong liquors from one person to another part of said person, did forthwith arrest, detain, pull up, etc., apprehend and inform against the said John, who was herewith and thereupon brought into court, given a fine of one hundred dollars and ordered to be duly incarcerated in the county jail for the term of one calendar month.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By Harry B. Hunt

NEW YORK, July 14. The majority of pols were never better demonstrated than in the closing session of the democratic convention, where the pent-up voices of a thousand testy delegates, breaking the deadlock in a minute. In fact, he personally adjourned the convention, following the nomination of Davis, without putting the question. In order to head off a movement to nominate him to second place by acclamation.

Walsh then explained to party leaders that it would be most unwise to allow a ballot, which would give him the presidential ticket.

He is up for reelection to the Senate this fall, and is sure of sweeping his state for that office. But the fate of the democratic presidential ticket is not so certain. He would be much more valuable to the party, he explained, as a real senator than as a possible vice president.

In deference to his wishes, in fact, to his demand, Walsh was reluctantly passed by.

Second choice of the large majority of delegates from the western field to Davis for the top of the ticket.

The vice presidential sentiment could not be crystallized until after the presidential election had been made, for everybody conceded the second place on the ticket, for political reasons, would have to go to someone who would help balance the ticket.

Meredith, as publisher of farm periodicals and in close touch with agricultural thought and sentiment, realized that a lot of explaining would have to be done to convince the nation that a government-owned superpower plant is essential to its accomplishment. Government-owned superpower west that a New York attorney, with his office on Broad street, just around the corner from Wall, and with J. Pierpont Morgan as his client, is not to a considerable degree influenced by it.

"Super power," the speaker said, could replace a large portion of the steam power which is now used and which still furnishes perhaps one-half of the power used in the United States."

One Republican, Lowden, refused the G. O. P. vice-presidential place.

Two Democrats, Walsh and Meredith, refused it from the Democrats.

Extensive plans are already under way, it was explained, for a practical determination of the extent to which electric power may be used upon farm lands.

TENN. GUARD WILL CAMP AT KNOXVILLE

Six Special Trains Will Bring Men to Camp Sevier

TRAIN TWO WEEKS

Entire National Guard of State Will Take Part in Training—Two Bands in Attendance.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 1—Camp Sevier, six miles from Knoxville, training ground of the state's national guard, will begin its annual encampment today with the arrival of 1,500 men and 150 officers representing nearly every town in Tennessee. Six special trains will bring the men to Knoxville, from where they will be taken to the camp for two weeks' training in military tactics. Training proper will not start to day, to enable themselves to get adjusted to the routine of the camp life.

The camp this year embraces the entire state national guard. Heretofore, only the 117th Infantry has occupied the camp, but the government, after expending over $150,000 in supplies and new equipment, decided to place the entire state guard at Camp Sevier.

Under command of Adjutant General William Caswell Boyd, the guard will go through two weeks of military training, each unit being instructed in every detail of its individual service.

Col. Roy S. Rochelle, commander of the 117th Infantry and head of Knoxville units stationed at Camp Sevier, will be one of the principal commanding officers of the camp. Under his command are the local cavalry unit, motorcycle detachment and medical detachment.

Two bands will present concerts each day, and moving pictures will be shown every night as special entertainment. Athletics will be a feature of the camp routine, and a field meet in which every guard is expected to participate.

Cavalry units at the camp, 16 in number, will hold maneuvers each day, the howitzer units, machine gun companies and infantry will parade often.

GIANT PLANE TO ENCIRCLE GLOBE

London Planning Mechanical Monster to Make Flight Around the World.

Associated Press.
LONDON—Built with a view to flying around the world, a giant air cruiser will shortly leave the works near here for trials at Southampton. The plane has two large floats, is driven by a 650 horse-power engine, and carries a crew of five.

Two pilots sit in front, and behind them in the fuselage is a wireless room. Still further back is the sleeping quarters, as large as a motorbus, and gasoline is carried in two tanks in sufficient quantity for a 10,000 mile trip. The plane will have a cruising speed of 50 miles an hour and a full-out speed of 100 miles.

HEROES WHO DIED IN WAR ARE HONORED

Memorial Church Erected at Chateau-Thierry Sunday.

CHAPLAINS HONORED

Reformed Church of America Has Appropriate Services For Fallen Heroes of Conflict.

By Associated Press.

CHATEAU THIERRY, France, July 14.—Honoring the memory of some 500 members of the Reformed Church in the United States who lost their lives in the Great War, there was dedicated here yesterday a memorial church erected by the General Synod.

Rev. W. Stuart Cramer, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Lancaster, Pa., officiated. Messages of appreciation were read from President Coolidge and General John J. Pershing.

The church contains a memorial pulpit to 22 chaplains of various religious bodies who lost their lives in the service of the American army and navy during the conflict. The names of these men follow:

KILLED IN ACTION: Ball, Thomas M., Presbyterian; Dunker, Walton S., Episcopalian; Davitt, William F., Roman Catholic; Deaver, John A., Cumb. Presbyter; Deiman, Harry, Congregationalist; Keith, Michael W., Presbyterian; Marsh, Arthur H., Episcopalian; O'Flaherty, Coleman E., Roman Catholic; Priest, Charles D., Disciple; Sewell, Wilbur S., Methodist; Smart, Daniel S., Presbyterian.

DIED FROM OTHER CAUSES: Bell, Albert D., Lutheran; Boone, John G., Disciple; Breden, John G., Brethren; Chouinard, Horace A., Episcopalian; Cornish, William B., Methodist; Doyle, Herbert P., Roman Catholic; Howard, Ammons T., Baptist; Kerr, John C., Methodist; McCarthy, John F., Roman Catholic; Murphy, Timothy, Roman Catholic; Wilby, Wm. H. J., Congregationalist.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., has placed a memorial Bible in the church in honor of her son, Quentin.

The Mercersburg Academy has placed the bell in the tower in memory of Mercersburg men who lost their life in the war. Other institutional memorials are from Franklin and Marshall College and Academy, the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Pa., Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and the Central Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church, at Dayton, Ohio.

The communication from President Coolidge is given below:

"I am indeed glad to have an opportunity of joining in this somewhat remote way in the dedication of the Memorial church in Chateau Thierry. "Not only will such a structure be a fitting monument to those who gave their lives, but it will be a source of peace and comfort to those who in years to come make a sorrowful pilgrimage to this spot where so many of our boys made the last sacrifice.

"I am especially glad that it embodies also a memorial to those who, as chaplains, played a great but inconspicuous part in the service. It is eminently appropriate that a tribute to their quiet bravery should be here enshrined to serve as a reminder that even in the midst of the horrors of war the higher things were not forgotten."

General Pershing's message is as follows:

"Please tell my friends of Chateau Thierry that my heart is with France now in the colossal task of rebuilding the places made desolate by war as it was in the hours of armed conflict. I feel that I speak the voice of America when I say that nothing can ever break the bond of love and sympathy between our people which was forged in the fires of our common sacrifice. "May this church through the ages be the emblem in stone and bronze of that undying devotion which lives in the hearts of my countrymen.

"In your work of reconstruction my highest wish for you is that you may be as brave and strong as were your devoted Paus on the fields of battle. Speedy success will then be yours."

ROAD CONDITIONS REMAIN UNCHANGED

Weekly Highway and Detour Report Much the Same As of Last Week.

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, July 14.—While proposed road construction development over the state occupied the state highway commission this week, no change was reported by officials of the highway department from last week's weekly detour and road conditions bulletin. This week's bulletin, issued today, follows:

Eastern Dixie Highway
The road through Dorcey, Kenton, and Demosville is still closed while repairs are being made south of Kenton. Southbound traffic from Cincinnati should cross the river at Newport, then go by way of Alexandria, and Grant's Lick to Butler. At Butler turn to right to avoid construction south of town, and go to the LLL road, then turn right one mile to Grassy Creek; then bear to left until LLL road is reached again, then go through Cynthiana and Paris to Lexington. Excepting a few rough places this road is in good condition to Lexington.

The LLL road south of Covington between Bank Lick Creek (a point 4 miles south of Latonia) and Pine is under construction. There are several detours and a difficult ford to cross. For safe and certain going take the Alexandria route just described.

The Dixie Highway south of Covington is under construction. Local traffic through Florence and Wilmore should detour at Walton and Bracht Station.

From Lexington to Rockcastle County there are two rough stretches of three miles each. (See Rockcastle County).

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY—From the Madison County line to Mt. Vernon is rough but repairs are being made. Most of traffic going via Nicholasville, Camp Dick Robinson, Lancaster, Crab Orchard, and Mt. Maysville road under construction.

Youth fell upon me like a fairy soft, With all the joys attendant there unto—A glad-some heart and pleasures not a few—"Mid mirth and song the birds ran smooth and swift

Thus like a stream, with people's fair and new

My prayer was granted, joy was all my own,

RECREATION SURVEY

Editor's Note: The following recreation study has been prepared cooperatively by the Enterprised Club committee of the Kiwanis Club and the Player and Recreation Association of America. The study is publicized in five sections and will appear from day to day until completed.

Section 1
future needs and to devise ways and means of from time to time acquiring properties which shall within ten years advance Middlesboro to the front rank of those cities of America in mounting a comprehensive and adequate municipal recreation system.

Section 2
The investigation necessitated by the survey disclosed a startling lack of organized recreation. In a list of American cities of 20,000, or less, of young public recreation, Middlesboro would stand perilously near the bottom. Less than five percent of the total population is afforded any opportunity for public or private recreation.

Section 3
And what were some of the common sights witnessed by those making the investigation? Mothers with babies and small children sitting on the ground in the shade of billboards.

This survey does not recommend the immediate establishment of a street intersections, boys chewing gum, department selling in the open, fighting and swearing in large tracts of land or buildings, and open lot, slums, lots of equipment involving a loss, using the time twice for want of some amenities, or in the use of tents, and buildings now owned by the city which may be owned by H. Bill, Chief of Police, Middlesboro, public parks, or which may be leased to the Fun Fairs, which will offer opportunity for all kinds of fun, the community should go to the city or city 100 percent annually in care of juvenile delinquency, illness and lack of opportunity for whole one interest.

Section 4
Supervised play will cut down in a general and comprehensive way to 10 percent and of the city population, 100 percent annually.

TOKIO, Japan, July 11—Feminine garrulity is one reason for the inefficiency of the Tokio telephone service, according to a spokesman issued recently by the municipal telephone bureau.

The statement says that a large proportion of all calls are by women to women and moreover when two women are talking much of their conversation is idle. To prove it point the telephone bureau issued detailed statistics the number of calls which it does not explain, to show how much time is wasted in various classes of telephone conversations.
